Annual Report on the Oklahoma Judiciary

1982 - 1983

About the Cover:

The cover is artist Thomas Batista's impression of the Supreme Court bench configuration. The Supreme Court of Oklahoma utilizes a standard seating protocol which determines where each of the justices sits. The seating protocol is a function of two factors: the ceremonial positions of the Chief Justice and Vice Chief Justice and the seniority of the remaining justices. Pursuant to the Constitution of Oklahoma, the nine justices must choose from among their members a Chief Justice and a Vice Chief Justice. In the bench configuration, the Chief Justice assumes the center position and is flanked by four justices on each side. The Vice Chief Justice occupies the physical position immediately to the right of the Chief Justice. From this point, the seniority of the remaining justices determines the balance of the seating arrangement. Based upon the initial date of a justice's election or appointment to the Supreme Court decides the remaining positions as follows: the most senior member sits immediately to the left of the Chief Justice and, in an alternating manner, the second most senior member sits in the second seat to the right of the Chief Justice, and the process alternates left-right in descending seniority until the member with the least seniority is positioned in the seat farthest to the left of the Chief Justice.

About the Artist:

This year the Administrative Office of the Judiciary invited Professor Jack Davis from Oklahoma City University to select an artist to sketch the bench in the courtroom of the Supreme Court. The artist selected was Mr. Thomas Batista of Oklahoma City University. Mr. Batista is a native of La Guaira, Venezuela. He has been a student at O. C. U. since 1981. He has studied at the Charitas Academy and the Power Academy in Venezuela. Mr. Batista has art works displayed in the private collections of the former president of Venezuela, Carlos Andres Perez, the Wilhelm Collection in Venezuela, Dr. J. J. Lopez Rodriquez, Spain, and others in public collections such as Sears de Venezuela and Association Cultural Maraven.

Several awards and scholarships have been received by Mr. Batista, such as the Fritz Ford Award in 1983, and a scholarship to study in the United States from Venezuela.

Mr. Batista is pursuing a Bachelor Degree in Art, and a degree in Advertising and Public Relations.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

On behalf of the Administrative Office of the Judiciary, I am pleased to submit to the Legislature the Annual Report on the Oklahoma Judiciary in accordance with the provisions of 20 O.S. § 16.11. The report is made available to other state agencies, public officials, and interested persons as a service of this office.

This report covers Fiscal Year 1983. It includes narratives and statistics regarding the Oklahoma Judicial System which have been designed to afford the reader an insight into the operation of our courts.

Caution should be exercised in the interpretation of judicial statistics. Judges spend a great deal of their time couseling, researching, traveling, and performing administrative tasks. Courts in metropolitan areas face heavy and specialized caseloads. In other areas of the state, the distances involved between the places where court is held and the additional duties involved in working with multiple staffs are criteria which must be taken into account. Moreover, no two cases are exactly alike although statistically they are considered equal. These items cannot be readily shown quantitatively. All are interpretive factors, however.

Please take time to review the information contained in this report which is most applicable to your needs. Comments and suggestions are solicited.

Let me add a word of appreciation to Chief Justice Don Barnes and the members of the Oklahoma Supreme Court for the support and help given to this project. In concluding, a personal thank you is extended to Judges and Clerks across the state and the entire staff of the Administrative Office of the Judiciary for the effort devoted to produce a timely and relevant report of which we are very proud.

Respectfully submitted,

Tom J. McDaniel

INTRODUCTION

The information and data contained in this report cover fiscal year 1983. Statistical data are presented on case filings, dispositions, and pending cases for the Supreme Court, the Court of Criminal Appeals, Court of Appeals, the District Courts, the Court on the Judiciary, and the Court of Tax Review. Breakdowns include the number and types of cases in the district courts and the method of disposition for various case classifications. Comparisons are also made with the data from previous years' reports. In addition, this report describes the administrative organization of the courts and its financial structure. A summary of special projects and programs is also presented.

In order to enhance the uniformity of reporting the caseload count for each of the defined categories, the unit of count as defined below was employed by each district court in the state.

A unit of count is simply any entity that is the basis for monitoring and reporting statistics by a court. Although unit of count is not itself a statistical term, the units being counted determine the activity of the court during a course of a given time period.

Filings

The unit of count in a civil, domestic relations, small claims or probate case occurs when the clerk of court files a petition to initiate a given case. Each initiating document is issued a file number and is counted as one case filed. When there are multiple defendants involved in a case there is one file number assigned to the case and only one case counted as filed; this results in a case-by-case reporting system and not a number of defendants reporting system.

The unit of count in a criminal case is when the clerk of court files an original charging document (e.g., complaint, information, or indictment in criminal or traffic cases) which begins the prosecution of a criminal case in the district court. Each charging document that is filed receives a file number. This is counted as one case filed. When there are multiple defendants on a charging document, there is one file number assigned to the case and only one case counted as filed. This results in a case-by-case reporting system and not a number of defendants or charges reporting system.

Dispositions

In all cases where there are multiple defendants and the case is disposed of by the court, the unit of count is the same as when the case was originally filed. If one file number was assigned, and then one case is reported as disposed of by the court.

In all cases where there are multiple defendants and the case is disposed of by the court but each defendant receives different dispositions, the unit of count is the same as when the case was originally filed; since there was one file number assigned to the case, there is one case disposed of by the court. Regardless of the number of defendants, the assigned case number controls the unit of count.

The priority for reporting a disposition in civil and domestic relations cases is as follows: jury trial, non-jury trial, dismissed/withdrawn/settled, or uncontested/default judgment. The priority for reporting a disposition in small claims cases is non-jury trial, voluntary dismissal, default judgment, or dismissed-failure to prosecute. The priority for reporting a disposition in probate cases is contested or without contest. The priority for reporting a disposition in felony and misdemeanor cases is jury trials, non-jury trials, guilty plea, bond forfeiture, or dismissal.

No matter how many dispositions there are in a multiple-defendant case, only one disposition is reported, and that is of the defendant receiving the highest priority in the manner of disposition categories.

The filing and disposition data presented should not be interpreted as a complete measure of judicial workload for each of the courts. Tabulations of filed and disposed cases do not reflect the complete workload of the court clerks or judges. The filings and dispositions should be considered as representative of the number of cases processed by a particular court and not as a total measure of its workload.

However, until such time as fully automated system of reporting can be implemented the information presented in this report will continue to be the most current and accurate available.

1983 LEGISLATIVE YEAR IN REVIEW

The First Session of the 39th Oklahoma Legislature culminated with the passage by both houses of the legislature and the approval of Governor George Nigh of several significant pieces of legislation that had a considerable impact upon the Oklahoma Judiciary. Following is a summary of key legislative enactments in 1983. Not only will "bills" that became law be noted, but also "joint resolutions" that have the force and effect of law when passed by both houses, "concurrent resolutions" that express the will of both houses, and "simple resolutions" that express the will of the house of origin.

SENATE MEASURES

Senate Bill 69 (by Sen. Roger Randle and Rep. Cleta Deatherage), an omnibus appropriation measure, reduces by various percentages the Fiscal Year 1983 budgets of approximately 75 state agencies, commissions and boards. This measure declared the Legislature's intent to modify state agency budgets, including those related to the judiciary, during the current fiscal year so that the Legislature could comply with a constitutional requirement for a balanced state budget. This legislative action was prompted by a shortfall of state revenue to the General Revenue Fund of the State Treasury.

Senate Bill 127 (by Sen. Gene Stipe and Rep. Frank Harbin) provides that at anytime within 120 days after a sentence is imposed or probation revoked the sentencing or revoking court may modify the sentence or revocation by imposing another penalty. The Department of Corrections is required to provide the court with a report on the inmate involved, and the court must consider the report when modifying the sentence or revocation.

Senate Concurrent Resolution 6 (by Sen. Ged Wright and Rep. Porter Davis) encourages the Supreme Court to inform the judiciary on sentencing options such as restitution, reimbursement to victims, and community service as alternative ways to punish criminal offenders without incarcerating such offenders in the state penal institutions.

Senate Resolution 13 (by Sen. Joe Johnston) directs the Court of Criminal Appeals, the appellate public defender, district court clerks and court reporters to perfect and process all opinions, briefs, official records and transcripts in capital cases as expeditiously as possible and within the time limits established by rules of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

HOUSE MEASURES

House Bill 1002 (by Rep. Robert Henry and Sen. John Clifton) provides that suits may be brought under the small claims procedure if the value of the property or the amount of money sought to be recovered does not exceed $1,500.00. Actions in the nature of interpleader may be brought under the small claims act if the value of the money that is the subject of such action does not exceed $1,500.00.

House Bill 1136 (by Rep. David Riggs and Sen. John McCune) creates the Dispute Resolution Act which authorizes cities and counties to establish programs that provide mediation services which will be supervised by the Administrative Director of the Courts. The Act legitimizes the mediation process by which minor disputes are resolved by the disputing parties with the assistance of a mediator in an informal session outside of a conventional court proceeding.

House Bill 1393 (by Rep. Frank Davis and Sen. Phil Watson) alters fees to be charged by the court clerks when various actions are performed in civil and criminal cases. The legislation also increases the filing fee for cases filed with the Supreme Court and the Court of Criminal Appeals. The measure substantially increases the costs incurred if a person is convicted of the charge of felony or misdemeanor driving under the influence of alcohol. The legislation mandates that the Law Library Fund payment equal the number of all non-criminal cases filed, multiplied by $3.50. The legislation also requires that the Court of Criminal Appeals establish qualification rules for determining when a defendant in a criminal case shall be entitled to a court-appointed attorney paid by the Court Fund. The bill states, "It is the intent of the . . . Legislature that the payment of bail by a defendant or on behalf of a defendant shall be prima facie evidence that said defendant has funds to employ his own attorney. . "

House Bill 1395 (by Rep. Stephen Lewis and Sen. Gerald Wright) may be cited as the "Nonviolent Intermediate Offender Act". The act provides that certain criminal offenders who are either eighteen to twenty-one years of age or juveniles certified to stand trial as adults, and convicted of a nonviolent offense, may be given indeterminate sentences.

House Bill 1430 (by Rep. David Riggs and Sen. Stratton Taylor) requires that a set schedule of costs be imposed in each juvenile delinquency, child in need of supervision, child in need of treatment or deprived case in which the juvenile is adjudicated. Costs are also to be imposed when a petition is filed at the demand of the parents of a juvenile and the petition is dismissed prior to adjudication at the request of the parents. The costs are to be levied against the juvenile, the parent, or both.

Enrolled House Joint Resolution 1024 (by Rep. Don Duke and Sen. Gerald Wright) mandates that a monthly report be submitted to the Insurance Commissioner by the Administrative Director of the Courts. The report is to include the name, charge, court of record and case number of every person admitted to bail on their own or personal recognizance, through a personal representative or by secured bonds. The report must also list, for each county, the information given below:

1. The number of persons who failed to appear on their court date;

2. The number of forfeitures of bail bond;

3. The number of civil actions needed to collect forfeitures of bail bond;

4. The number of persons returned to custody;

5. The number of persons who failed to appear on their court date who have not been taken into custody;

6. If bond ordered forfeited has been set aside or not.

SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF OKLAHOMA

The original jurisdiction of the Supreme Court extends to a general superintending control over all inferior courts and all agencies, commissions, and boards created by law. The Supreme Court has exclusive authority to pass upon the qualifications and fitness of all applicants for admission to the practice of law within the state. The Supreme Court has the exclusive power to discipline attorneys or revoke their license to practice law within the state. The Supreme Court also has appellate jurisdiction over all civil cases appealed from the District Court.

The Supreme Court consists of nine justices each of whom serves a six-year term. The Court sits in Oklahoma City, the state capitol, and is open for the transaction of business at the call of the Chief Justice. Each justice must be from a separate Supreme Court Judicial District of the state as provided by statute. Retention is effected by a non-partisan, non-competitive statewide election. A vacancy is filled by gubernatorial appointment from a list of three nominees submitted by the Judicial Nominating Commission. If the Governor fails to make the appointment within 60 days, the Chief Justice appoints one of the three nominees.

The Supreme Court exercises administrative and supervisory control over the entire court system through the Chief Justice, the presiding judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, the Administrative Director of the Courts, the presiding judges of the Court of Appeals (Divisions 1, 2, 3, and 4), and the presiding judges of the District Courts. The Supreme Court may promulgate rules and regulations for all courts of record in the state.

CLERK OF THE SUPREME COURT

The Supreme Court appoints a Clerk of the Supreme Court who serves at its pleasure and who is licensed to practice law within the state. The clerk is responsible for keeping records, files, and papers committed to his care and for recording the judgments, decrees, and orders of the Supreme Court, the Court of Criminal Appeals, Court of Appeals, and the Court on the Judiciary.

COURT OF APPEALS

The Court of Appeals has no original jurisdiction but has the power to dispose of any civil case assigned to it by the Supreme Court. A decision of the Court of Appeals may be reviewed by the Supreme Court if a majority of Justices directs that certiorari be granted. The Supreme Court may, by order, recall a case that it had previously assigned to the Court of Appeals.

The Court of Appeals sits in four permanent divisions: Divisions 1 and 3, consisting of three judges per division, sit in Oklahoma City; Divisions 2 and 4, also consisting of three judges per division, sit in Tulsa. The court sits in continuous session and has statewide jurisdiction. The twelve judges are elected on non-partisan ballots from the six congressional districts in the state for six-year terms. The Governor fills vacancies by appointment of a qualified person from the congressional district where the vacancy exists after considering the three nominees submitted by the Judicial Nominating Commission.

COURT ON THE JUDICIARY

The Court on the Judiciary consists of Appellate and Trial Divisions. The Trial Division is composed of nine members, eight of whom are district judges, senior in service and under the age of 60, and one active member of the Oklahoma Bar Association, chosen by its Executive Council. The Appellate Division is composed of two Justices of the Supreme Court, chosen by the court; one member of the Court of Criminal Appeals, chosen by the Court; one active member of the Oklahoma State Bar Association, chosen by its Executive Council, and five district judges senior in service and under age 65. Each division of the Court on the Judiciary selects its presiding judge, who is to be judge of the qualifications and disqualifications of its own members and who makes and publishes its own rules of procedure.

Any justice or judge of any court exercising judicial power under the provisions of the Constitution of Oklahoma is subject to removal from office or compulsory retirement from office by proceedings in the Court on the Judiciary. Jurisdiction of the Trial Division of the Court on the Judiciary may be invoked by petition filed by the Supreme Court or the Chief Justice, the Governor, the Attorney General, the Executive Secretary of the Oklahoma Bar Association when directed by a majority vote of all members of its Executive Council, by resolution of the House of Delegates, the House of Representatives of the State of Oklahoma. The Trial Division sets the matter for hearing not less than 60 days after notice of filing. After full hearing, the Trial Division renders such judgment as the facts may justify. From any judgment of the Trial Division, the respondent or the prosecutor may appeal to the Appellate Division within 10 days after the entry of judgment. The review in the Appellate Division is an equity appeal as to both law and facts. The review in the Appellate Division may affirm, modify, or reverse the judgment of the Trial Division.

The Court of Tax Review meets in Oklahoma City upon the call of the presiding judge of the court. The court reconvenes upon the call of the presiding judge as deemed necessary until all protests have been heard and determined.

The Court of Tax Review is made up of three District Court judges, who are designated by the Governor. The presiding judge is chosen by the members of the court. There is no specific term of the presiding judge.

The court has no original jurisdiction but hears and determines all protests against alleged illegal tax levies. The court has the authority to hear and determine all protests filed under 68 O.S. § 24103. The court also has the power to administer oaths and to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of evidence, including any public record from any county in the state.

The State Auditor and Inspector serves as clerk. He has the responsibility for transmitting a copy of the taxpayer protest to the county clerk, district attorney and county treasurer of the affected county. He also has the responsibility for transmitting a copy of the decision of the Court of Tax Review to the county clerk, the county assessor, the county treasurer and to the protestant or his attorney of record.

DISTRICT COURT

The District Court has unlimited original jurisdiction in all justiciable matters, power to review administrative action, and power to issue writs, remedial or otherwise, necessary or proper to carry into effect its orders, judgments, or decrees. The court also hears trials de novo from the Municipal Courts not of record.

There are 26 District Court judicial districts that are divided into nine judicial administrative districts. In each of the nine judicial administrative districts, the district and associate district judges elect one of their district judges as the presiding judge. Subject to the authority of the Supreme Court, the presiding judges designate places for holding court and may provide for divisions of the court.

The District Courts consist of 71 district judges, 77 associate district judges, and 54 special judges. District and associate district judges serve four year terms. If a particular District Court has more than one district court judge, the presiding judge of that judicial administrative district designates one of them as chief judge of that court. The appointed chief judge serves at the pleasure of the presiding judge.

District Judges and Associate District Judges, of the District Court, are elected in non-partisan elections by the voters in their respective counties or districts. When a vacancy occurs in the office of district judge, the Governor appoints one of three persons nominated by the Judicial Nominating Commission. If the Governor fails to make the appointment within 60 days, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court appoints one of the nominees. If a vacancy occurs in the office of associate district judge, the presiding judge of that judicial administrative district appoints a special judge to hold the vacant office until the vacancy is filled according to prescribed procedures. Special judges are appointed by and serve at the pleasure of the district judges.

District Court Clerks are county officers who are elected for four year terms. The Clerk of the District Court is responsible for keeping an appearance docket, a trial docket, a journal, a judgment docket, an execution docket, and such other books as may be ordered by the court or required by law. The clerk furnishes caseload statistical information and other information as requested by the Supreme Court and the Administrative Office of the Judiciary.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION COURT

The Workers' Compensation Court is a state court of limited jurisdiction. All cases involving injuries or diseases sustained during the course of employment fall within the jurisdiction of the court. Awards of the court are final, subject to the right of appeal to the Supreme Court.

The Workers' Compensation Court consists of eight judges, all of whom are appointed by the governor. Appointments are made by the governor from a list of three nominees for each position. The three nominees are selected by the Judicial Nominating Commission from applications submitted by qualified applicants. The Presiding Judge of this court presides at all hearings before the entire court en banc and at all conferences at which appeals and other court-related matters are considered. He also makes procedural rulings for the court, except those to be made in court by a single judge assigned to a case. Initially, the judge assigned to a case hears the evidence at trial and renders a decision in the form of an order. Any party aggrieved by the decision of the trial judge may appeal to the court sitting en banc or in the alternative may appeal directly to the Supreme Court.

In addition to the court's judicial function, the court is empowered to carry out certain administrative endeavors. The administrator of the court examines and approves settlements between the injured employee and the employer and its insurance carrier, and monitors own risk carriers and self-insured "pools". In addition, the administrator oversees and manages every non-judicial function of the court, which includes a public information department set up for the benefit of injured workers, insurance companies, attorneys and government agencies. The administrator monitors the docketing of court cases.

The Workers' Compensation Court has the power to formulate its own rules and regulations, subject to the approval of the Supreme Court.

The Funding of the Oklahoma Court System

THE FUNDING OF THE OKLAHOMA COURT SYSTEM

The Oklahoma Court System is funded from tax-generated revenue that is appropriated by the Legislature and user-generated revenue which consists of fines, fees, and bond forfeitures collected by the 77 District Courts and the Clerk of the Supreme Court. The day-to-day operating expenses of the District Courts and approximately 60% of all judges salaries are derived from user-generated revenue. The remainder of costs for District Courts and the Supreme Courts are funded from general revenue appropriations.

The total cost for the operation of the Judiciary in fiscal year 1983 was $38,638,780. User-generated revenue comprised 69% or $26,653,171 of the total funding for the courts. The remaining costs of $11,985,609 were funded by general revenue appropriations.

At the District Court level, the revenue received are used for the local operation of the District Court. These expenses are for items such as juror and witness expense, supplies, utilities for court occupied space, attorney fees for indignet defense, bailiff and part-time court clerk employees, per diem court reporters, furniture, equipment purchase and equipment rentals. Additionai expenses include payments required by statute to the Judicial Retirement System, Law Enforcement Training Fund and the County General Fund.

On a quarterly basis, each district court clerk files a report with the Administrative Office of the Courts that reflects the expense of the local district court and the amounts in excess of expenses for deposit in the State Judicial Fund. The fees received by the Clerk of the Supreme Court are deposited directly into the State Judicial Fund. Two other sources of collections for the State Judicial Fund are surplus funds transferred from the law libraries and court reporter license fees.

The State Judicial Fund is a continuous fund and not subject to fiscal year limitations. However, an appropriation is made by the legislature from the State Judicial Fund for a portion of judge's salaries and travel expenses while on official business. Some direct costs are made from the State Judicial Fund and require no legislative appropriation. These costs are: jury trials where the local court fund is insolvent, costs related to criminal change of venue, attorney fees for indigent defendants charged with first degree murder, expenses related to the Council on Judicial Complaints, and expenses of the State Board of Examiners of Official Shorthand Reporters.

District Court Caseload Information

District Court Statistical Information

This section contains tables and accompanying charts depicting the caseload in 1982-83 of cases filed and disposed of in the district courts. The main classifications of case types illustrated are: general civil (contractual, tort, foreclosure, and negligence), domestic relations (divorce, reciprocal support, paternity and adoption), probate (administration of estates, determination of death, mental health, guardianship, and general probate), small claims (matters of controversy of $1,000.00 or less), criminal felony (D.U.I. and general felony), and misdemeanor cases. Included in the misdemeanor caseload are traffic, D.U.I., and general misdemeanor cases.

The data displayed in the following charts when compared to the previous years' reports may reflect a difference in totals from one report to another. The reason for this difference is that the method of reporting caseload statistics has been revised and some courts audited their previously reported caseloads to determine the accuracy of the case counts. After the audits were performed some adjustments were necessary in the caseloads reported. Several other courts have indicated that they need to perform a caseload audit in the near future. Therefore, the data reported in the ensuing reports will also contain adjusted figures.

The data is arranged in sequence by judicial district with each county caseload within the district displayed separately. An aggregate total for statewide caseload by category appears at the end of each set of charts.

District Court Caseload Trend Data

1978 - 1983

The following charts are graphic illustrations of the caseload changes in the district courts over the past five years. In the following paragraph, clarifications are made regarding the data displayed so that proper interpretation of the data can be made.

The reporting years of the data was changed in 1982, from a calendar year to a fiscal year basis. Therefore, for calendar year 1981, data were not included in compilation of trend data so as to eliminate duplication of data. The first fiscal year report (1982) considered data from the last six calendar months of 1981 in the totals.

When a comparison of caseloads are made from year to year, it will be found that the pending figures do not balance from year to year. This discrepancy is caused by adjustments from the caseloads due to original reporting errors.
